

Dear Friends,

I'm doing something I don't do, haven't done—but have to do this time around. I'm inviting and urging you to attend a one-hour, online “Focus for Democracy” zoom session for the 2024 election cycle, on Tuesday, March 26 at 5 pm Pacific/8 pm Eastern.

I hope you can click here to register for the zoom. No obligation to donate, just to learn:

And you'll receive a zoom link before Tuesday.

Never heard of Focus for Democracy? They're a team of experienced voter-development strategists who have raised tens of millions of dollars to promote and protect democracy, with a focus on voters in swing states. They do this by rigorously evaluating democracy-advocacy organizations with a proven record of increasing voter turnout, and recommending the most cost-effective strategies that aren't getting funded—but should be.

At this event, you'll learn about this work, and hear from a team of experts on using limited means to make an essential boost to voting. When we attended, at my sister Barb's urging, we were impressed, inspired, and energized. Finally something that could make the difference. This was not a begging robo-call style ask, but a deep look into how democracy can work to save our country... an approach that could make a huge difference with modest means. I've become a donor, but there is no obligation to donate - although after hearing the work of F4D organizations, and the measurable results they've evaluated, you may be compelled to.

For now please click on this link to register for Tuesday:

You will receive a zoom link in advance. And I hope to see you there.

Love to all,
Kim Stafford

P.S. - F4D's events often exceed Zoom capacity. If you can't join the main zoom meeting Tuesday, you can click here to view the event via a private livestream: focus4democracy.org/overflow
